

© Linda Hartough 2010
All rights reserved.

in 50 years. The swirling winds, the canted green guarded by Rae's Creek, Hogan's Bridge and the unparalleled scenery makes the 12th the signature hole at Augusta National. And, as many a Masters Champion will attest, the deciding factor in who leaves with the Green Jacket. This hole is unmistakable with its yellow flowered blooms of Golden Bell appearing each spring around the green. Linda Hartough has again captured the beauty of the 12th Hole, the centerpiece of Amen Corner. Prints of this magnificent oil painting are offered in both limited edition lithograph and giclee prints, each signed and numbered by the artist. SuperSize Canvas available 3' x 5' !!

„The 12th Hole, "Golden Bell" Par 3, 155 yards Augusta National Golf Club“ Image size ca. 68 cm x 39 cm (27" x 15 3/8")

The 12th Hole is the one timeless hole at the Augusta National Golf Club. The shortest and most treacherous hole of them all has not changed

www.kiekebusch.com